A SPECIAL train was run over the Hempfield Railroad, yesterday, for the accommodation of the citizens of Washington and Greene counties, Pa., who wished to attend the Great Fair. The train was well patronized, and brought a big crowd of people to the city.

It may have escaped the attention of some of the literary men of the city that they are required to take out licenses. The license was up on Tuesday, yet we understand only one firm has yet taken out the proper license. The matter should be attended to before trouble ensues.

THE GREAT LONDON SHOW.—There was an immense crowd of people in the city yesterday, attracted by the Great London Show. The street parades in the morning were large and imposing, and was witnessed by thousands of people, the streets and sidewalks were thronged with people, and the air was filled with the music of brass bands and the shouting of the crowd.

The crowd which filled the canvass in the afternoon was estimated from 3,000 to 5,000, and at night long before 8 o'clock the tents were crowded. The immense canvas was fairly packed with humanity, and cars and carriages kept coming up continually bringing fresh crowds. It was a tremendous assemblage of the people, and exceeded the brightest anticipations of the proprietors. The performance was all that the show promised.

The best riders, leapers, tumblers, gymnasts, trapeze artists, jugglers and clowns were there, all great, skillful and graceful. Frank Melville, Wm. Dutton, Sonoria Adelaide Codina, the Leotards, Lawrence Sisters, Crossley and Elder, and the hundreds of others were great in their specialties. Katsushin, the Japanese juggler, is one of the most astonishing performers in the ring to-day. Every act was loudly and enthusiastically applauded, and the entire performance, both afternoon and evening, passed off most pleasantly.

The electric light display, which is the brilliancy and beauty. It made the interior of the tents as bright as day, and shed a soft, ethereal radiance over every one. The proprietors of this show evinced the greatest enterprise in securing the electric light display, and the people are entitled to the credit due. All the other shows now in this country if consolidated could not equal the "Great London," and all the money possessed by all the other managers in the city of the exhibition, the grand electric light.

BURGLARY AND ATTEMPTED RAPE.—Wednesday night about 9 o'clock Philip Serbe, a German shoemaker in the employ of C. Knoke, went to the Children's House, on Thirteenth street, and rang the bell. A young lady attendant opened the door and admitted him, when he at once seized her and attempted to force her upon the floor. After a struggle, she succeeded in releasing herself from his grasp, and ran up stairs screaming. Her screams attracted the attention of Mr. John McCall, pressman at the Register office, who happened to be passing by, and he went to the yard, met Serbe at the door, and demanded the cause of his presence there at that hour of the night. Serbe was unable to give a satisfactory account of himself, and he was taken to the police station, where he was held in custody. Serbe was turned over to the custody of Gen. Wallace. Serbe resisted desperately, but Mack having once got a grip on him did not loosen it until he was under lock and key at the station.

Yesterday morning Serbe was before His Honor Judge Crammer, at the Police Court, and fined $20 and costs for disorderly conduct. Immediately afterwards he was released, and he was taken to the jail at 11 A.M., and in default of $1,000 bail was committed to answer at Court.

It is likely that the conference will continue for several days, and the distinguished gentlemen composing it are expected to remain in the city until Sunday, and preach in the various churches published, filling the appointments.

ART IN THE CURTAIN—MISS DODS' LECTURE ON COOKING.

MISS DODS' LECTURE ON COOKING. The lecture on cooking, given by Miss Dods, at McCall's Hall, Twelfth street, last evening, and quite charming her "pupils," composed wholly of ladies, by her manner, her knowledge of that which she taught, and her clearness of thought, and illustration. There was nothing theatrical about it; everything was practical, and as she proceeded with her lecture, the dishes, whose preparation she described, grew under her skillful hands, and the audience, who were so interested in the complete and tempting masterpiece ready to be served at the table, were placed on the platform a long table facing the audience, bearing crockery, plates, dishes, etc., while at a short distance from either end stood smaller tables, the one bearing piles of clean plates and dishes, and the other with flour, vegetables, lemons, apples, eggs, sugar, salt, pepper, etc., to be transformed into toothsome dishes of various kind. Several dishes were prepared and explained during the evening, and as the lecturer proceeded the various steps were noted down by her pupils with pencil and paper.

As our reporter arrived at the hall, just completed a lecture, the name and ingredients of which we did not learn, but after consigning it to the oven she commenced another dish, which she called "potato coquettes." I take, said Miss Dods, clearing the dishes, which I prepared all prepared, I mash the potatoes, or rub them through a sieve, put in the yolks of two eggs while the potatoes are hot, and stir them together as quick as possible. I now add pepper and salt, one ounce of butter and stir until the butter is melted, and thoroughly mixed. I now pour the batter slightly, for if I didn't the potatoes would stick to it, and form into balls. I beat the whites of the eggs and roll the balls in it, and roll them in the bread crumbs, held in a piece of paper, gently rolling the ball from side to side, putting in just enough bread crumbs to do for one ball. I then fry them in lard, and when brown they are done.

When Miss Dods had finished this dish she informed her pupils that she would show them how to cook eggs for breakfast.

For each egg I take one ounce of butter, two table spoons of bread crumbs, pepper and salt. In one dish I put half of the bread crumbs, which I sprinkle with salt and pepper. I now put the eggs of the bread crumbs I put over the eggs, to which I add a little more pepper and salt and the butter in small pieces, which I bake in the oven for ten minutes.

Miss Dods then took out of the oven the potato coquettes, which had been cooking while she was explaining and working up the last dish, and passed them around for the inspection of her pupils.

She gave us the last part of the evening, that for making Strawberry cakes. "I take for these," said Miss Dods, "six ounces of flour, three ounces of butter, three ounces of sugar, one teaspoonful lemon juice and one egg. I mix together the sugar, butter and flour, and add a pinch of salt and a pinch of baking powder. I then add the lemon juice and knead together to get all the dry flour mixed well with the sugar and butter. I now roll the dough out, after flouring the board, to one-third of an inch in thickness. I then cut out the dip in flour and put out the cakes in a biscuit shape. I now put them in a baking pan, which I put into a quick oven and bake for five minutes."

Miss Dods then announced that her lecture would close for the evening, and she had the last one in the course was given to-morrow evening at 2:30 o'clock.

We are sorry we did not arrive sooner so as to have been able to have given the public the benefit of the earlier performances of Miss Dods. The lecture, accompanied as they are by practical demonstrations, are of material benefit to all housewives who have an ambition to set a dainty dish before the lord of the household, whose feelings are always moved in proportion to the dainty manner in which his palate is tickled.

THE FOURTH STREET SOCIAL.—Notwithstanding the inclement weather at last evening, there was a large crowd at the social given by the Fourth Street M. E. Church in the basement of the church. An abundance of good things of the table were spread on the table, and a fine supper was served, the cuisine of which would have been a credit even to Miss Dods. The lecture, which was given by Mr. J. H. Foster, was a most interesting and hearty enjoyed by the good company present, and the refreshment stands, too, were liberally patronized.

During the evening the following literary and musical programme was followed out:

Instrumental Solo, "Good Night," Miss Minnie Hall, recitation, "Our Heroes, Living and Dead," Vocal Solo, "When the Moon is Solitary Beaming," Miss Anna Crammer.

Recitation, "The Penial Convict," Miss Ella Dutton. Vocal Solo, "The Light of the Day," Miss Ella Dutton.

Instrumental Solo, "The Light of the Day," Miss Ella Dutton. Vocal Solo, "The Light of the Day," Miss Ella Dutton.

At the close of the exercises Dr. A. C. George, pastor of the church, announced that Bishop Foster would lecture this evening, and that tickets for the lecture should be procured of the committee, who were present at the lecture, and announced the presence of Bishop Foster, who was accompanied by Messrs. Harris, Haven, Andrews, Wiley and Bowman, and that all present would have an opportunity of meeting and becoming acquainted with the most distinguished divines of the church in the country.

At the close of the exercises, the Bishops were the cynosure of all eyes. A pleasant hour was spent in getting acquainted, and in social chat, and all retired to their homes before daylight had put in the time to good advantage.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Business Transacted at the Regular Meeting Last Night.

The Board of Education met last night in regular monthly session. Present at roll-call: Arkle, Collier, Ebeling, Hess, Hildreth, Hoge, Maxwell, McNulty, J. A. Miller, John C. Miller, Wait, A. Wilson, W. A. Wilson, Mr. President.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read, approved and signed.

The Committee on Accounts reported having examined bills amounting to $99.39, which they found correct, and recommended be paid. The report was adopted.

The Committee on Finance, to whom was referred the communication of the Board of Education of Fulton, asking for their proportion of the State school fund, because of their schooling fifteen pupils resident in Washington district, reported that they had found upon examination that the Board has heretofore settled the matter annually in this way. First, that the Board had paid them their proportion of the State school fund, $18.00; second, that the Board has paid to the State the aggregate school taxes paid by the Fulton district, $20.00. Adding this to the $18.00 referred to above, it makes a total of $38.00, which according to custom of this Board is due the Board of Fulton. The Committee recommended that the Clerk be authorized to draw an order upon the Collector in favor of the Board of Education of Fulton for $38.00, which was so ordered.
